HELP US WELCOME NEW FAMILIES!

This Fall, we have welcomed 135 new youth into Scouting, and we are excited to have them join! Due to an increased marketing effort, free adventure kits mailed to interested families, and your local efforts, more young men and women will get to experience the lifechanging adventure of Scouting. Now it's time to spread the word; it's not too late to join! Invite a friend to come to your next meeting or activity. Gone are the days of assuming that everyone knows what Scouting is and its benefits.

With families busier than ever, and many activities to choose from, you need to help us TELL OUR STORY to your friends and neighbors. What did your son or daughter learn at their last campout? What did they do the last time they encountered a challenge in the program and how did they overcome it? How has the program changed their lives and yours? Our Scouts are not only having fun, but our dedicated volunteers are teaching important values and lessons that will shape the rest of their lives.

SUCCESSION PLANNING

Succession planning in Scouts is essential to ensure the continuity of leadership, preserve organizational knowledge, and foster the development of future leaders who can carry forward the values and mission of Scouting.

Here are five key steps to build a succession plan for Scouting leaders:

- 1) Identify Critical Leadership Roles: Determine which positions are vital to the success of the Scouting group, such as Scoutmasters, committee chairs, and other leadership roles.
- 2) Assess Potential Leaders: Evaluate current Scouts, parents, and volunteers for leadership potential based on their skills, experience, and commitment to Scouting.
- 3) Develop Training and Mentorship Programs: Create opportunities for leadership candidates to shadow current leaders, attend training programs, and take on responsibilities gradually. Share a job description to convey the expectations of the position.
- 4) Create a Timeline for Transition: Establish a clear timeline for leadership transitions, including when current leaders will step down and when new leaders should be ready to assume their roles.
- 5) Communicate and Monitor Progress: Regularly communicate the succession plan to all members and monitor the progress of emerging leaders, providing feedback and support as they develop into their roles.
